CORRECTION AND SUPPLEMENT TO OBJECTION

Objector incorrectly calculated the overcharge of the four pack value to each class claimant. Defendant is counting two four pack's each time the product option is selected not one. The overcharge to the class is $15.00 - $11.96 ($5.98 Walmart price x 2) is $3.04 per product option ordered. The value to the class should be recalculated to the class at a minimum savings of $3.04 per order and preferably the lower wholesale price should be used ($5.00 per pack?)

Apparently as of the end of November 3.4 million claims per date have been filed making the cash option worth approximately $3.00 ish per person not $10.00 and the product option down to the one pack vs the two pack that was proposed.

To make up for the pro-rata clause kicking in on both the cash and product options every penny saved or credited to the class will make a huge difference since the value fund will be severely depleted due to the large number of claims being filed. The solution is to include a coupon with each claim sent out to each class member who filed a claim for cash or a product good for one free four pack (8.4 ounce can) to make up for the shortage. The coupon should be valid for six months and should be transferrable with each coupon worth 1/1000 of one cent in cash.
